Dear Parents:

An exciting performance of ATCO Energy Theatre is coming to your child's school in the near future. ATCO Energy Theatre is an "edu-taining" musical production that teaches young audiences about natural gas and electricity as well as how to stay safe at home.

POWER TEAM: Origin of Power Woman is a high-energy and hilarious adventure introducing Power Woman as she discovers her super power of knowledge, and forms her crew of superhero friends, the Power Team. By the end of this production, your child will learn important lessons about the hazards and safe practices of both.

After watching POWER TEAM: Origin of Power Woman, your child may be "fuelled" with excitement about safety in your home. Here are some fun ways you can continue their learning once the show is over:

- www.atcoenergytheatre.com: This kid-friendly website is a great way to continue learning at home. The ATCO Energy Theatre characters are a featured part of the interactive and challenging games that make learning to be safe fun!
- Our new mobile app—Safety Quest—available on Google Play and iTunes: This fun and interactive app will take you and your child through a checklist to ensure your home is up to safety standards and prepared for emergencies
- www.atcogas.com and www.atcoelectric.com: Our company websites provide information about our company, our services, safety and energy-saving tips and much more.

Your family's safety is our number one priority at ATCO Gas and ATCO Electric. The award-winning ATCO Energy Theatre has been touring our service communities since 2007, and we look forward to sharing this educational and entertaining experience with your child.
